

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

THE LEWIS MACHINE & TOOL COMPLETE WEAPON SYSTEMS NOW AVAILABLE TO RESPONSIBLE CIVILIANS

MILAN, IL (February 2, 2008) – Lewis Machine & Tool Company, an Illinois based company that designs, prototypes, and manufactures small arms, accessories and tooling components for law enforcement, military, commercial manufacturers, and responsible civilians, now proudly offers three LMT complete weapon systems in 5.56 to competitive and target shooters.

The LMT Standard Patrol rifle features a Gen 2 collapsible stock and an overall length of 32.5" with the stock collapsed and 35.5" with the stock open. The Standard Patrol rifle features a 16" chrome lined barrel with a standard semi-auto bolt carrier group, standard trigger group, and a Defender lower half. The Standard Patrol rifle at 5.9 lbs is a well-balanced rifle made with the same exacting standards LMT uses on their military rifles.

The LMT Standard rifle with SOPMOD collapsible stock features a 16" chrome lined barrel with a standard semi-auto bolt carrier group, standard trigger group, and a Defender lower half. Overall length with stock collapsed is 33" and 36.25" with the SOPMOD stock open. The Standard rifle weighs in at 6.2 lbs.

The third LMT Complete Weapon System is the CQB with SOPMOD Stock. This Complete Weapon System features the Close Quarter Battle (CQB) with the patent pending Monolithic Rail Platform (MRP), an integrated rail system that provides an unprecedented level of versatility for the operator. With the SOPMOD stock open the rifle measures 36.25" and 33" with the stock collapsed. Weighing in at 6.8 lbs the CQB with SOPMOD stock has a 16" chrome lined barrel with a standard semi-auto bolt carrier group, standard trigger group and a Defender lower half with the SOPMOD stock. All three LMT Complete Weapon Systems ship with an Operators Manual, sling and one 30-round magazine.
